

*"All our church is about anymore are pot lucks and carnivals
and embracing all the latest cultural trends."*

"Aren't you exaggerating just a little bit?"

"Five years ago we gave up doing communion because everyone was on the Atkins Diet."

Lifelong friends become bungling partners in an adventure toward deeper Christianity that you won't soon forget. After the gangly, socially-awkward Roman decides to actually put into practice some teaching he heard on evangelism, comedy ensues as his street-wise, church-going, co-worker, Jorge, tries to get him to settle down and stop taking the Bible so literally.

Amidst the laughs, serious moments will surprise you with their depth. So if you've ever thrown your family to the ground to avoid the Jehovah's Witness at your door or been heckled by a ventriloquist and his dummy... this series is for you!
